

Abstract

This invention is directed to a gaming machine that displays an array of randomly selected symbols and pays winnings on any winning symbol combinations appearing on paylines carrying a bet wherein groups of symbols are sequentially positioned in the array until the array is complete.

632362_1.doc

76867/20092